STUART ROBERTSON

Horowhenua
DISTRICT COUNCIL

Peace in 10,000 Hands is the creation of New Zealand-born photographic artist Stuart Robertson. The project involves documenting a single white rose, an ancient symbol of peace held in the hands of 10,000 people from every country and walk of life. A number of global celebrities appear as subjects.

In winter 2017 a selection of iconic photographs from the Peace in 10,000 exhibitions will go under the hammer at a fundraising auction to be held at Te Takeretanga o Kura-hau-pō in Levin.

The auction will include three first edition 900mm by 900mm and one 330mm by 330mm originals. These pieces that have travelled with the exhibition will be auctioned alongside ten custom made one-of-a-kind artworks over 2m tall each, produced exclusively for Te Takeretanga o Kura-hau pō's exhibition.

Proceeds from the auction will go to Horowhenua charities working in the prevention, recovery and rehabilitation of victims, perpetrators and families affected by domestic violence.

Tickets $50 from Te Takeretanga o Kura-hau-pō or online at www.tetakere.org.nz

Parihaka, Taranaki, New Zealand. The home of non-violence and passive resistance with a spiritual legacy of living in harmony with the land and all humanity. Our paths crossed and we were blessed to be invited to stay and spend time with Maata, the Kaitiaki (Guardian) of the Te Niho o Te Atiawa Meeting House and her whanau at Parihaka. A Raukura (white albatross feather), the symbol of peace at Parihaka and the white rose came together for a very special series of photographs.

Item 3

"Can you please take your top off for me?"
Were my first few words to legendary platinum selling NZ musician Tiki Taane. It was pitch black behind the stage that David Guetta was performing on. Tiki struck this pose for me and then walked off towards the screaming crowd.

I spent a bit of time with Demi over a few weeks, finally the time felt right for a photo shoot on a cool LA afternoon under the dappled light of trees. This is the result. It is honest and beautiful.

The Highlands of Papua New Guinea. A location steeped in adventure. Ancient tribal traditions living in the dense rain forests with wild tales of cannibalism and swift vengeance. Six million out of the seven million population live in remote parts of the country in tribes, living a self-sustainable, natural lifestyle untouched by money, electricity and any modern conveniences. My time in the Highlands was intrepid, memorable and very challenging for so many reasons. Each tribe has his own traditional costume made from the local plants, birds, animals, shells, mud and pigments of the land.

Item 7

Emily Blunt

Fundraising for Horowhenua Supergrans, Helping People Flourish - E manaaki tangata puawai tia. Building family skills including prevention-first parenting programme delivery. Proceeds will fund the expansion of the Incredible Years programme for 0-3 year olds.

Emily Blunt

Emily was on her way to film the action crime thriller 'Sicario'. We were on the same flight to New Mexico together. She had her daughter Hazel cradled in her arms. I told her all about the project and asked her if she would like to be photographed holding the white rose and she was like, yes, absolutely, let's do it right here, right now! With lots of onlookers we did her photoshoot, her frank sincerity and natural beauty made her a delight to work with.

Item 8

Oar Boy

Fundraising for Horowhenua Family Support Service. Home based client-led support for Horowhenua families under stress. Proceeds will help with supporting children affected by violence build resilience, confidence and connections through swimming lessons.

Sunrise in Varanasi on the Ganges, so many questions, so many reservations, accompanied only by my Oar Boy who took me across the Ganges to witness tradition thousands of years old. I was humbled by his youth in tandem with his connectivity to ancient civilizations many many generations removed. The smell, the light and the gentle rock of the surging Ganges are sensations that will never leave me.

It is the day of the LA Marathon. LA is in lock down and cut in half as the runners are going from Dodgers Stadium to the Coast essentially all the way along Santa Monica Blvd, under the 405.

If you look at a map it is a suicide move to drive anywhere on this day. So....Ricky confirms the morning of the LA marathon to photograph him in his Suite at the Beverly Hilton, right on the route. I made it. Ricky is hilarious and generous.

Rajasthan. The Thar desert. With me forever. Days and days and days of travelling dusty tracks and meeting people with such a sense of humanity, connectivity and a heart larger than the expanse that I covered in all my trekking.

The stick collector is a nod to NZ artist Warren Viscoe, who's sculpture named The Stick Collector I own with my wife, juxtaposed with the hardship of being the stick collector in the Thar desert for your village where trees and sticks are rare and as treasured as golden nuggets.
